Fremont's Supporters

It is a notorious fact that many of the bitterest secessionists in Oregon, conscious of the futility of any effort to oppose, with a candidate nominally Democratic, the re-election of Abraham Lincoln to the Presidency, already are pledged and actively engaged in the support of John C Fremont and his friend John Cochran, while those candid, honest members of the now defunct Democratic party who always have been thorough Union men, but who were for a time misled by the shallow protestations of their whilom party guides are as warm and earnest in their devotion to Abraham Lincoln. The most ultra Democrats in the North—who for years have accepted African slavery and Anglo Saxon superiority as the corner-stone of their political edifice—through their mouth pieces now deny that they were ever in sympathy with the "divine institution"—asserting that they always regarded it as a political and social evil, etc. Such hypocritical nonsense is uttered too soon after their blatant treason at the efforts of President Lincoln to abolish slavery as a war measure—upon the success of which in a great degree depended the prompt subjugation of the traitorous hordes in the South. Epithets such as "d——d abolitionist," "black Republican," "fanatic," and others, were never bestowed by Democrats upon their opponents Oh! no! on the contrary, the Democrats have ever striven to wipe out slavery, and blame the Republicans and Union men for wanting to do it in a constitutional manner! only that. It would reflect upon the intelligence of our readers were we to produce proofs of the Democracy having been the slavery sustaining power, for the record of its infamous reign and overthrow is scarcely yet dry. The following letter to the Cleveland Radical Convention, from Wendell Phillips, under date of April 21st, defines the platform of the Oregon Copperhead Fremont and Cochran Democrats.

JUDGE STALLO—Dear Sir Since you asked my judgment as to the course to be taken in nominating a candidate for the Presidency, I have been requested to sign a call for a Convention in May next.

Let me tell you the National policy I advocate Subdue the South as rapidly as possible The moment territory comes under our flag, reconstruct States thus Confiscate and divide the land of rebels extend the right of suffrage broadly as possible to whites and blacks let the Federal Constitution prohibit slavery throughout the Union, and forbid the States to make any distinction among their citizens on account of color or race.

I shall make every effort to have this policy pursued Believing that the present Administration repudiates it, and is carrying us to a point where we shall be obliged either to acknowledge the Southern Confederacy or to reconstruct the Union on terms grossly unjust intolerable to the masses, and sure soon to result in another war, I earnestly advise an unpledged and independent Convention, like that proposed, to consider public affairs and nominate for the Presidency a statesman and a patriot.

Yours, faithfully, WENDELL PHILLIPS.

Fort Darling Taken.

Such is the burthen of our latest telegram A confirmation of this intelligence will demonstrate one important result of the earnest and progressive efforts of the Army of the Potomac in cutting off the supplies and weakening the defenses of Richmond, previous to the grand contraction of Gen Grant's iron fingers around the doomed heart of the rebellion Fort Darling is situated on the James river high upon the crest of Drury's Bluff, eight miles south by east from Richmond and has been regarded as a sufficient river defence against any and all gun boats that might essay an attack on the rebel capital It was at this point that the iron clad fleet under Commodore Goldsborough were stopped in their ascent, May 17th, 1862, receiving the shot and shell from the Fort upon their decks while unable to elevate the projectiles from their floating batteries sufficiently to do execution It is more than likely that Gen Butler found the fortification in his way and carried it

The Placerville News says that two gentlemen who arrived in that city from Nevada on Friday, June 3d, counted between Yankee Station and the Riverside House, a distance of twenty miles, 586 heavily loaded wagons, drawn by 4,695 animals—averaging a little more than eight animals to a wagon

The Acting Master of the United States gunboat Narragansett, George W Ryckman formerly Captain of the John L Wright while she run between San Francisco and San Diego, was stricken with paralysis on the 5th of June, and is considered to be in a precarious condition.

The Deseret News informs us that upwards 800 "Saints" were in Liverpool on the 21st of April, ready to embark for New York in the Monarch of the Seas, on their way to Salt Lake A large proportion of the Saints were from Scandinavia

WASHINGTON TERRITORY ITEMS —The Puget Sound papers are rejoicing over the receipt of a consignment of 30 miles of telegraph wire from San Francisco to Hon Jos Cushman, at Olympia, and the deposit of another lot at Pumphrey's Landing, on the Cowlitz The line is expected to be in working order between Portland and Olympia in August

The Seattle Gazette has been suspended, owing to the election of its editor, publisher and printer to the Legislature J R Watson is a sound Administration man, and possesses ability

The Pacific Tribune has seen a letter from Geo E Cole to Judge McFadden, dated Washington, April 27th 1864, from which the following extract is made

The committee which has the Railroad in charge has agreed to accept my amendment to extend the grant for a road to Puget Sound. It has already reported the bill for a road from Lake Superior to Puget Sound The committee on public lands have agreed to a favorable report for a grant of land to construct a wagon road from Walla Walla to Puget Sound but have not yet been able to get the floor to report It will pass I can get no money for constructing roads this session but may be able at the next * * * The bill confirming titles to University lands also the bill granting 30 000 acres of land to Territories for the endowment of agricultural colleges have both become laws

A correspondent of the Tribune writing from Cape Quinnault, May 31st, says

The beach for miles is strewn with trees of the largest size—timber of all kinds piled in heaps, as if old ocean intended it as a woodyard for the nation

The soldiers came here to arrest the murderers of H K Cook These murderers are Quillute Indians and belong forty miles up the coast from this place towards Cape Flattery Four canoes, holding six or seven braves each, came to this place on the 6th inst. to hold a "talk" with Mr Paige the Indian Agent They held three "talks" on three successive days and left without anything being accomplished At first they denied knowing anything about the matter, but afterwards agreed to get one of the guilty parties (there being four of them) if that would settle the affair Of course this could not be done

We expect a steamer here in a few days, with one hundred soldiers on board She will take one half of our party and proceed up to the mouth of the Quillute river, where, if the Indians do not turn over the culprits to us, the ball will open This is what we expect will be done.

We have a blockhouse, two stories high on the bank of the river, which would stand the fire of all the Red Devils this side of "Jordan"

BOISE ITEMS.—From the News of June 4th, we learn that two men, one of them named Ryan, stole and sought to escape with 60 or 70 animals from a ranch near Boonville, were captured and taken back, and the indications were strong that the people were about to have a "hanging frolic."

Gov Daniels has pardoned and set at liberty Henry Woods, lately convicted of obtaining goods under false pretences, and sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

THE GREATEST LITERARY PRODUCTION OF THE AGE —We have just been shown the first volume of a series—eighteen in number—entitled the New American Cyclopedia published by the Messrs Appleton, and edited by Geo Ripley and Chas A Dana Of this truly great work too much cannot be said in its praise It is not the labor of one man, not the result of the investigation, nor the reflex of the sentiments of a single individual, but rather a storehouse which many and great minds have assisted to fill Upon examination, it appears that the matter of this Cyclopedia is all original written or re-written expressly for the work In the performance of this labor several hundred writers are engaged, embracing the most distinguished literary men in our own country and not a few in Europe The work contains of itself a library of learning, and there is not a subject of the least interest to the general or critical reader, which will not be found in it and treated in a masterly manner As a readable work, none can surpass it in geniality and attractiveness of style and for reference it gives a decision on all points that is regarded as final We are informed that the work will be circulated through Oregon and Washington for orders, and can most heartily recommend its purchase to every one

Letter from Snake Indian Expedition

CAMP NO 17 OWYHEE RIVER }
Oregon, May 31st, 1864 }

EDITOR OREGONIAN

Capt. Curry's "expedition into the Indian country," consisting of companies A and E of the 1st Oregon Cavalry marched from Fort Walla Walla on the 28th of April Having identified myself with it for the campaign and being delighted with the opportunity to gratify my excited curiosity regarding the famous Owyhee country, through which it was supposed the expedition would scout during the greater portion of the summer I, for one at least, set out with glowing anticipations What those anticipations were I will not here trouble you to state suffice it if in their realization I find interesting items and leisure sufficient I will write you again hereafter

The outfit of the expedition being mostly new and of the best, there was none of that delay which generally attends starting an expedition into the field Everything moved off smoothly from the start. The supply train consists of 105 packs and eight six-mule wagons, carrying 90 days rations for the whole command besides the necessary camp and field equipage

Three day's marching brought us to the base of the Blue Mountains near the Umatilla Indian Agency Here the command was reinforced by the stalwart Umahowlitz, chief of the Cayuses and ten of his dusky warriors They proposed to go as scouts and seem very eager for an opportunity to wreak vengeance upon their hereditary enemies the Snakes It was muster day being the 30th and just when the command was formed in line preparatory to mustering a detachment of thirty mounted warriors appeared on a ridge a few hundred yards distant waving the bright Stars and Stripes and yelling as only Indians can They were all flushed with a ruddy profusion of war paint and dressed in their gaudiest trappings Their horses were caparisoned in the richest style of aboriginal ostentation, displaying much of their ideal "pomp and circumstance of war," They came dashing down the ridge with their wildest whoops and circling around our camp, marched in quickly and in good order to await the maneuvering of the soldiers

Muster being over, a circle was formed, and Mr Barnhart, Indian Agent first addressed the council The pipe was passed around, and speeches were made in great profusion among which Capt Curry and Owleswampo, chief brought forth the best specimens The council adjourned shortly after dark and then came one of those romantic scenes—a war dance It lasted until midnight and increased in volume and fierceness until the air trembled and the earth shook beneath the impetuosity of that wild, weird orgie. When silence came over the camp I immediately fell into a peaceful slumber, which was gilded with bright visions full of ecstacy But the gay platoons of sweethearts that went trooping through my dreams to the soft music of love peans, were soon metamorphosed into ghastly shapes, and their songs into horrid shrieks by another outburst of savage enthusiasm Again it lulled, and again I slept this time until the bugle sounded the shrill reveille

We spent May day in marching up the Blue Mountains to Lee's Encampment It was a delightful day and the green slopes beautified with wild flowers and shaded with fresh foliage seemed to invite us to the banquet there Who could help reverting to the groves and forest-aisles of youth and the jollity of its May-day picnics, when the vivifying scenes around and the rough rations with them, naturally called up the recollection of sweetmeats and rich dainties seldom heard of and never seen in the army

At La Grand we were pleased to find the Stars and Stripes floating The ladies of the place like patriotic ladies everywhere, proud of exhibiting their fidelity and devotion to the Union, made the flag with their own fair hands I was sorry that the commanding officer did not see proper to camp his command in the very shadow of the ladies' flag—it would have prevented much ill-feeling on the part of the male portion of the town But for the trifling consideration of wood, water and grass (all of which were for sale in town) he moved his command two miles away to Grand Ronde river thus completely ignoring the necessity of towns and the disinterested kindness of speculators to our command We laid over one day at this camp and after leaving it I ascertained that we had been camped in a new town Oddell, and that the La Grande people recognizing it as a rival town were jealous of the patronage we were bestowing unawares by our presence there I wonder if the La Grand folks are foolish enough to trust—they must know that soldiers have no money

At Powder river we crossed on Mr King's toll bridge since which time he has been repeating a tale of wrong to every passer by He is a Copperhead and refused to take the oath of allegiance to the Government The Quartermaster Lieut. Pepoon, refused to pay him his toll until he did subscribe the oath Mr King proposed a suit at law but after a moment's thought on the subject he said that would be of no use because the habeas corpus was suspended and therefore he knew the Quartermaster would beat him at law He deemed it a great outrage but we had crossed on the word of his pay so he took the oath—like some of the take the oath—to save a bill

This is a fine country for toll roads and toll bridges and there are a great many this year A narrow passage in a rough place (where people cannot drive around) is considered a fine place for a toll gate

Arriving at the mouth of Owyhee river opposite old Fort Boise, on the 16th inst Capt Barry 1st W. T. Infantry with 20 men joined our command and on the 17th we moved up the west bank of the river eight miles and established a temporary depot at this place On the 18th Capt Curry with all his cavalry started on a scout up the west side of Owyhee taking 20 days rations Capt Barry with his infantry remained in charge of the depot Marching for six days through a rough country most of the way on the old trail Capt Curry's command arrived at the ferry on Owyhee near the mouth of Martin creek (this is the main [illegible] to Jordan and Sucker creeks after they flow together) and here he met a party of miners from El Dorado county, Cal, en route to Boonville in the Jordan creek mines They had several wagons and pack animals which they were crossing over in primitive style The ferryboat was [illegible] the [illegible] served only to [illegible] The miners reported their route from Lassen Meadows in the Humboldt via Star City and up Queen's river as being an excellent road They [illegible] 190 miles from Lassen's Meadows to the ferry and 60 miles there to Boonville

On the 20th Capt Curry moved his command eight miles to the westward of the Ferry and camped on a fine stream to which he gave the name of Gibb's Creek in honor of His Excellency our Governor [illegible] and commenced [illegible] fortifying for [illegible] to call Camp Henderson in honor of our next Congressman

On the 26th Capt Kinchelrt with 20 men, in charge of the mule train left camp Henderson returning for supplies and arrived here yesterday being five days [illegible] miles from the mouth of the Owyhee [illegible] Capt Barry will [illegible] with his infantry to take charge of the [illegible] and upon his arrival, it is probable that Capt Curry will move with all his cavalry westward toward Harney lake The road from this place by the route Capt C [illegible] march [illegible] is thought to be [illegible] ons are [illegible] they must go by the Jordan [illegible] The [illegible] Fort [illegible] one on the west side by which the cavalry [illegible]

The [illegible] and present fine condition of Capt [illegible] miners [illegible] well as [illegible] about 400 [illegible] from the place [illegible] while a [illegible] of the cavalry [illegible] and it is fifteen days to the time of Col Maury's leaving [illegible] with his command [illegible] after which time it [illegible] 1 100 miles and returned to winter quarters on the 20th [illegible] the [illegible] the return of [illegible] to Fort Walla Walla SOGER BOY

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AMONG SLAVERY —The Northern Copperheads seem to think it impossible that a Southern man, born and grown to manhood in a slave State should be other than a friend to human bondage We hope to teach them better, after a while They know nothing about slavery they have seen none of its more horrible operations except what they have read of the superficial observations of travelers, from whom the more revolting features of the institution were concealed We have seen and been familiar with all the horrible spectacles and can assure the reader that "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and the drama of the "Octoroon" fall short of rather than exceed the reality. It was our lot to live twenty five years in the very centre of the Slave Empire, far away from the civilizing influences of the Free States and where the records of atrocities found no access to the public prints Hence by experience we have learned to hate the accursed barbarism, with an inexpressible hatred and to despise its Northern apologists with an unspeakable contempt. The swift flight of the blood hound in pursuit of the panting fugitive, the tying down and mangling the flesh of the refractory slave the binding and scourging of women even when pregnant, the mournful spectacle of the auction, the brutality of the soul driver, the furtive complaints of the slave when any one could be found humane enough to listen to their story—all these things are fresh in memory all of them we have seen and heard

When only a boy we had a vast ambition to have the management of a gang of field hands We didn't know the dreadful meaning of slavery then, we thought the poor creatures were only cattle, which brutal men might drive and whip until they grew old and died off But, God be praised now, that even under the influence of such surroundings we never laid a grievous burden on one of them In cotton picking time, each hand—men and women—had a set task, a very Egyptian task it was, and any delinquency was sure to be visited by the vengeance of the overseer Each had to pick so many pounds of cotton Sometimes, during the sultriness of the day, some of the negroes would become improvident and lazy, but as the sun sank lower and lower, they began to work faster, recollecting that a terrible whipping would be the result of their former slothfulness Sometimes, in very desperation, one would smuggle a stone into the defaulting basket, carefully adjusting the cotton to hide the deception. In the course of our superintendency, we frequently detected contraband cheats of this sort, but never betrayed the wretched delinquents to the the overseer The consequence was that our gang of hands fell off considerably in the production of cotton, though rocks diminished perceptibly from the cotton field, and we were summarily deposed from that exalted office —Ed S F, Flag

Why does a sculptor die a harder death than other men? Because he makes faces and "busts."

Geranium leaves are said to be a curative application for cuts or abrasions of the skin

☞ In every age of the World, the professions have been slow to admit the value of new discoveries or the expediency of adopting them in practice It is not to the legal profession that we look for reforms in jurisprudence neither do we find the advocates of medical reform among physicians Each deprecates whatever is found to innovate upon received opinions and established usage Hence the opposition which medical men too often exhibit to the use of private remedies, whatever their acknowledged value, or great efficiency in the cure of disease No medicine has ever done more for the relief of human suffering than Dr Osgood's India Cholagogue The certainty with which it cures Fever and Ague, and eradicates bile from the system is acknowledged by all.

THE SCHOOL EXHIBITION —The Portland Academy and Female Seminary closed its annual exercises last evening, by an exhibition at the M. E. Church, in behalf of the Sanitary Commission The receipts amounted to about two hundred dollars. The exercises consisted of music, dialogues, declamations orations essays, prose and poetry and by no means the least attractive feature, the reading of the Young Ladies' Wreath. The hearty and unanimous applause of an appreciative audience, is the highest eulogy that could be given, and where every one acted their part so nobly, it would be invidious to particularize It is sufficient to say that the exhibition was a perfect success—alike creditable to teacher and pupil. The school is in a healthy and prosperous condition, as the catalogue, distributed at the exhibition, will show The first session for 1864—65 begins on the 22d day of August next.

A NEW GRIST MILL —Portland is soon to have a very valuable acquisition to her manufacturing interests, and one which will do much to revive the usually latent energies of the county outside, as it will have a tendency to concentrate at this place much more of the staple products of our farming community We allude to the new flouring mill which is to be erected in the upper Ward by Mr. G W Vaughn The machinery, all complete, has been ordered from Buffalo, New York, and it is in contemplation to have the building erected immediately, to receive it when it shall arrive We are informed that Mr V intends his mill shall be the best in Oregon

A NEW EXPRESS LINE —Mr. Amasa Howe has established an Express line, and will run a public conveyance from Portland every Monday morning, leaving at 7 o'clock, passing Hillsboro, Forest Grove, Wapatoo Lake, to arrive at Lafayette on Tuesdays, at 11 A M On the return it will leave Lafayette at 1 o'clock P M Tuesdays, and arrive at Portland on Wednesday evening The office in this city will be at the Livery Stable, corner of First and Salmon streets.

RAIN AND HAIL —Yesterday was the most unfavorable weather day, which we have experienced during the present season Our city was visited with a heavy storm, about noon, in which a prolific amount of hail was showered upon us It is something unusual for this time of the year, but will do no damage to growing crops, according to the best judgment of a good farmer.

DULL IN POLICE COURT.—There has not been a case before Recorder McCoy for five days past, which seems almost incredible, for Portland We shall be obliged to dispute any statements regarding the inebriety of the city or disarrangement of the social system, which may hereafter appear in foreign papers, unless some frail Miss Demeanor appears for trial soon.

STEAMSHIP JOHN L STEPHENS.—The longest steamer ever sailing for the Columbia river, leaves San Francisco to-day for Victoria and Portland We understand that her upper deck has been removed, and that she has recently undergone thorough repairs She will doubtless make a quick trip, and may be expected Thursday evening.

THE remains of a human body were discovered near the edge of the water, in the Columbia river, at Vancouver yesterday morning, just about the time the steamer Vancouver was leaving for Portland We could not learn any particulars in regard to the matter, last evening

CIRCUIT COURT —No causes received final attention in the Circuit Court yesterday, motions and arguments being the principal business The trial jurors were excused from attendance until Monday morning. Court will meet this morning at 9 o'clock.

NO FEARS OF THE DRAFT.—Our foreign born citizens do not seem to have any fears of the draft, as they continue to declare their intentions, and take out naturalization papers At the present term of Court several have been thus adopted.

THE CAMBRIDGE.—The bark Cambridge grounded on Willow Bar, in attempting to pass through Willamette Slough. A portion of her freight was brought to the city yesterday, by the steamer John H. Couch.

THE NEW WORLD —A temporary shed has been erected on the wharf near the berth of the steamer New World, to afford protection and storage for the machinery now being taken out for a thorough cleaning.

OSSIAN E DODGE was at Hillsboro last evening A concert will be given by Dodge and Hayward at Forest Grove to-night.

REPORT AND REVIEW

PORTLAND Friday June 17th—2 P M

The general trade of the city since the opening of the present week has been brisk among our merchants but transactions [illegible] have been limited and furnish us with few notable items in grain operations

The receipts of flour from the Upper Willamette during the time we have under review are quite in excess of any previous week for months consisting principally of country brands The most of this flour is immediately transhipped to the mining regions, on steamers of the Columbia and while our exports do not show much by Ocean vessels, it is easily accounted for from the fact of having a better market nearer home The figures for Standard Mills and Imperial Standard are unchanged, sales ruling at $8 00 per bbl [illegible] Country brands have sold at prices ranging from $5 to $6 50 and $7

No Oregon flour is quoted in the Victoria market, but California brands were selling at $8 50@$9. In San Francisco our flour is on the same footing with their own best brands

In shipping, the past week, goods mostly in the line of provisions have been sent and although an extraordinary amount of liquors have been taken

Among the importations of the week we may notice the cargo of the bark Cambridge from the Hawaiian Islands which will be up to-morrow evening in tow of the steamer John H Couch. Her cargo consists principally of salt [illegible] error, in our publication of her manifest, made it appear that she had about 1200 kegs of sugar which was a mistake Her cargo cannot make any difference with the state of the market

City buyers are paying for country produce to-day, the following prices

Bacon, with good demand, 15 cents for sides and 16@17 for hams.

Beans dull sale at 2½ cents per lb

Butter, choice article readily taken at 30@37 cts per lb., ordinary bringing 25c

Eggs 25 cents per doz en

Lard, 12½@13 cents per lb

New Potatoes, from California are retailing at 6 cts. Green peas, 5@6 cts Cabbage 5 cts

A fine lot of Greening apples sold yesterday at $1 25 per bushel other kinds of fruit are sold according to their quality about as follows Cherries, 20@50 cents per lb; Strawberries 20 to 35@40 Raspberries, 50 cts per gall. Gooseberries same

Wool continues to be offered in small lots, at prices not materially different from our last quotations

The amount of gold bullion received during the week by Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, amounts to $132,000 as follows

On Saturday last	$17 000
" Monday "	20 000
Tuesday "	5 000
Wednesday "	20 000
" Thursday "	70,000
Total	$132,000

Of which amount a great proportion is under order for the Branch Mint at San Francisco The remainder delivered to parties in this city, and the offices for Assay

C C MOORE 254 Broadway, N Y,
etc etc etc etc etc

The Plantation Bitters make the weak strong the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya Bark, Wintergreen, Sassafras Roots Herbs, &c all preserved in perfectly pure St Croix Rum

S T.—1860—X.

Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, lassitude palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c , deserve to suffer if they will not try them.

They are recommended by the highest medical authorities, and are warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure and harmless.

NOTICE —Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters in bulk or by the gallon is a swindler and impostor It is put up only in our patent log cabin bottle Beware of bottles refilled with imitation deleterious stuff for which several persons are already in prison See that every bottle has our private United States Stamp over the cork unmutilated and signature on steel plate side label

Sold by respectable dealers throughout the habitable globe

The Strange Man's Sorrow

When I first knew Spezzia, it was a very charming spot to pass the summer in. The English had not found it out. A bottle of Harvey sauce or a copy of Galignani had never been seen here, and the morning meal which now figures in my bill as Dejeuner complet—two francs—was then called coffee, and priced two pence. I used to pass my day in a small sail boat, and my evenings I played penny whist with the judge and the commandant of the forces and a retired envoy, who, out of a polite attention to me as a stranger, agreed to play such high stakes during my sojourn at the baths. They were excellent people, of unblemished character, and a politeness I have rarely seen equalled. Nobody could sneeze without the whole company rising to wish him a long and prosperous life or a male heir to his name, and as for turning the trump card without a smile and a bow all round to the party, it was a thing unheard of.

I thought if I could secure a spot to live in in such an Arcadia, it would be charming, but this was a great difficulty. No one had any accommodation more than he wanted for himself. The very isolation that gave the place its charm excluded all speculation, and not a house was to be had. In my voyagings, however, around the Gulf, I landed one day on a little inlet, surrounded with high lands, and too small to be called a bay, and there, to my intense astonishment I discovered a small villa. It looked exactly like the houses one sees in a toy shop, and where you take off the roof to peep in and see how neatly the stairs are made and the rooms divided; but there was a large garden at one side and an orangery at the other, and it all looked the neatest and prettiest little thing one ever saw off the boards of a minor theatre. I ran my boat on shore and strolled into the garden, but saw no one, not even a dog. There was a deep well with a draw bucket, and I filled my gourd with ice cold water, and then plucking a ripe orange that had just given me a bob in the eye, I sat down to eat it. While I was engaged, I heard a wicket open and shut, and saw an old man very shabbily dressed, and with a mushroom straw hat, coming towards me. Before I could make excuses for my intrusion he had welcomed me to Pertusola—"The Nook," in English—and invited me to step in and have a glass of wine.

I took him for the steward or fattore, and acceded, not sorry to ask some questions about the villa and its owner. He showed me over the house, explaining with much pride how a certain kitchen range came from England, but nobody ever knew the use of it, but it was all very comfortable. The silkworms, and dried figs, and salt fish, occupied more space, and contributed more odor, than a correct taste would have approved of. Yet there were capabilities—great capabilities, and so before I left, I took it from the old gentleman in the rusty costume, who turned out to be the proprietor, a marquis, the commendatore of I don't know what order, and various other dignities beside, all recited and set forth in the lease.

I suppose I have something of Robinson Crusoe in my nature, for I loved the isolation of this spot immensely. It wasn't an island, but it was all but an island. Towards the land two jutting promontories of rock denied access to anything not a goat, the sea in front, an impenetrable pine wood to the rear, and there I lived so happily, so snugly, that even now, when I want a pleasant theme to doze over beside my wood fire of an evening, I just sail up Pertusola, and ramble once again through its olive groves, or watch the sunset tints as they glow over the Carara Mountains. I smartened the place up wonderfully, within doors and without. I got flowers, roots, and annuals, and slips of geraniums and made the little plateau under my drawing-room window a blaze of tulips and ranunculuses, so that the queen—she was at Spezia for the bathing—came once to see my garden, as one of the show-pots of the place. Her majesty was as gracious as only royalty knows how to be, and so were all her suite in their several ways, but there was one short, fat, pale faced man, with enormous spectacles who, if less polite than the rest, was ten times as inquisitive. He asked about the soil and the drainage, the water and its quality, was it a spring—did it ever fail—and when and how? Then as to the bay itself was it sheltered, and from what winds? What the anchorage was like — mud — and why mud? And when I said there was always a breeze even in summer, he eagerly pushed me to explain why, and I did explain that there was a cleft or gully between the hills, which acted as a sort of conductor to the wind, and on this he went back to verify my statement, and spent some time poking about, examining everything, and stationing himself here and there on points of rocks, to experience the currents of air. "You are right," said he, as he got into his boat, "quite right, there is a glorious draught here for a smelting furnace."

I thought it odd praise at the time, but before six months I received notice to quit. Pertusola had been sold to a lead company, one of the directors having strongly recommended the site as an admirable harbor, with good water, and a perpetual draught of wind, equal to a blast furnace. Looking at the dress coat in which you once captivated dinner parties, on a costermonger—seeing the strong boxed-hunter that has carried you over post and rail, in a cab—are no sore trials, but nothing according to my companion's description, to the desecration of your house and home by its conversion into a factory. Such an air of the 'Inferno,' too, pervades the smelting house with its lurid glow, its roar, its flash and its furious haste, that I could readily forgive him the passionate warmth with which he described it.

They had begun that chimney, sir, before I got out of the house. I had to cross on a plank over a pit before my door, where they were riddling the ore. The morning I left, I covered my eyes, not to see the barbaric glee with which they destroyed all around, and I left the place forever. I crossed over the Gulf and I took that house you can see on the rocky point called Marola. It had no water, there was no depth to anchor in and not a breath of air could come at it except in stillness. No more terrors of smelting house here, thought I.

Well, sir, I must be brief; the whole is too painful to dwell on. I hadn't been eight months there when a little steamer ran in one morning, and four persons in plain clothes landed from her, and pottered about the shore—I thought looking for anemones. At last they strolled up to my house and asked permission to have a look at the Gulf from my terrace. I acceded, and in they came. They are all strangers but one, and who do you think it was? The creature with the large spectacles! My blood ran cold when I saw him.

"You used to live yonder, if I mistake not," said he to me, coolly.

"Yes, and I might have been living there still, if it had not been for the prying intrusion of a stranger to whom I was weak enough to be polite."

He never noticed my taunt in the least, but calmly opening the window, passed out upon the terrace. The others speedily gathered around him, and I saw that he knew the whole place, as it had been his bed room, for not only did he describe the exact measurements between various points, but the depth of water, the character of the bottom, the currents, and the prevailing winds. He went on, besides, to show how, by running out a pier here, and a breakwater there—by filling up this and deepening that—safe anchorage could be secured in all weathers, while the headlands could be easily fortified and "at a moderate cost," I quote himself "of say twenty two or three millions of francs while a fort erected on the island there would command the whole entrance."

"And who, in the name of all Utopia, wants to force it?" cried I, for as they talked so openly, I thought I might interpose as frankly. He never seemed to resent my remark as obtrusive, but said quietly

"Who knows? the French perhaps—perhaps your own people one of these days."

I'd like to have said, but I didn't. We could walk in and walk out here, with our ironclads as coolly as a man goes out in the rain with a mackintosh. They remained fully an hour, talking as freely as if I were born deaf and dumb. At last they rose to leave, and the owl faced man—he looked exactly like an owl—said, with a little grin, "We're going to disturb you again."

"How so?" cried I, "you can't smelt lead here."

"No, but we're going to make an arsenal. Where you stand now will be a receiving dock, and that garden of yours a patent slip. You'll have to clear out before the New Year."

"Who is he? who is that with the spectacles?" asked I of one of the servants who waited outside of the door with the cloaks and umbrellas.

"That's the Conte de Cavour," said the fellow, haughtily, and thus was the whole murder out at once. They turned me out, sir, in two months, and I never ventured to take a leave of the place till he died. After that event I purchased a little spot on the Island of Tino, yonder, and built myself a cottage. They could neither smelt metal nor build a ship there, and I hugged myself at the thought of safety. But, would you believe it? last week—only last week—his successor, in rummaging over Cavour's papers in the foreign office, comes upon a packet labelled "Spezia," and discovers a memorandum in these words, "The English Admiral, at dinner to day, laughed at the idea of defending the mouth of the Gulf from the island. He said the entrance should be two thirds closed by a breakwater, and a strong fort a fleur d' eau built in Tino. I have thought of it all night, he is perfectly right, and I'll do it."

"Here, sir," said my companion, drawing a paper from his pocket, "is a 'sommation' from the minister to surrender my holding on Tino, receiving a due compensation for the same, and once more betake myself, heaven knows where, for, though the great Count Cavour is dead and gone, his grand intentions are turning up every day, out of drawers and pigeon holes, and I shrewdly suspect that neither Pio Nono nor myself will live to see the last of them."—Blackwood's Magazine.

A poor poet, desiring a compliment, asked Curran—referring to his recently published poem of that name—'Have you read my Descent into Hell?' "No, I should like to see it," replied the wit. A prosy member of Parliament having asked him, "have you read my last speech?" he replied, "I hope I have."

Before you commit suicide, take a cold bath. What people term despair is very often dirt.

In the District Court of the United States for the District of Oregon.

The Monticello and Cowlitz Landing Steamboat Company libellant vs the Steamboat Senator.

WHEREAS, a libel has been filed in the District Court of the United States for the District of Oregon on the first day of June, A. D. 1864, by the Monticello and Cowlitz Landing Steamboat Company against the steamboat Senator, her tackle apparel and furniture alleging in substance that said libellants have a claim for damages against said steamboat Senator in a cause of collision civil and maritime. That on Saturday the 28th day of May, A. D. 1864, on the Willamette river, in the State of Oregon, while the steamboat Rescue, belonging to said libellants, was proceeding on a voyage from the port of Portland to the port of Oregon City on said Willamette river, she was with great force and violence run into and upon by the said steamboat Senator, thereby causing great injury and damage to the wheel, shaft and machinery of the said steamboat Rescue. That said collision was caused by the unskillful and improper management and the carelessness and negligence of the persons navigating the said steamboat Senator. And that in consequence of said collision and injuries to said steamboat Rescue libellants have sustained damages in the sum of two thousand dollars, and praying that the said steamboat Senator may be condemned and sold to pay the said sum of two thousand dollars damages. Now therefore in pursuance of the monition under the seal of the said Court to me directed and delivered, I do hereby give notice to all persons claiming the said steamboat Senator, her tackle &c., or in any manner interested therein, that they be and appear before the said District Court to be held at the city of Portland in and for the District of Oregon, on the first Monday of July next, (A. D. 1864,) at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day (provided the same shall be a day of jurisdiction, otherwise on the next day of jurisdiction thereafter) then and there to interpose their claims and make their allegations in that behalf.

Dated this 9th day of June, A. D. 1864.

PERUVIAN SYRUP,

OR PROTECTED

Solution of Protoxide of Iron,

Has been used with Great Success in Curing

DYSPEPSIA,

Affections of the Liver, Dropsy, Neuralgia, Bronchitis and Consumptive Tendencies, Disordered State of the Blood, Female Complaints, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Scurvy the prostrating effects of Lead or Mercury

GENERAL DEBILITY,

and all Diseases which require a

Tonic and Alterative Medicine.

THE PROOFS OF ITS EFFICACY are so numerous, so well authenticated, and of such peculiar character that sufferers cannot reasonably hesitate to receive the proffered aid.

The class of diseases for which the Syrup provides a cure is precisely that which has so long baffled the highest order of medical skill. The facts are attested; the witnesses are accessible, and the safety and efficacy of the Syrup incontrovertible.

From well-known Citizens of Boston.

The undersigned having experienced the beneficial effects of the Peruvian Syrup, do not hesitate to recommend it to the attention of the public.

Certificate of Dr. Hayes.

It is well known that the medicinal effect of Protoxide of Iron is lost by even a very brief exposure to air, and that to maintain a solution of Protoxide of Iron without further oxidation has been deemed impossible.

In the Peruvian Syrup this desirable point is attained by combination in a way before unknown; and this solution may replace all the proto-carbonates, citrates and tartrates of the Materia Medica. A. A. HAYES, M. D.,

IODINE WATER.

IODINE WATER IS THE MOST IMPORTANT DIScovery of modern chemistry, and it is impossible to ever estimate its influence as a remedial agent. Iodine has been considered the most useful article in Materia Medica, and many of the most scientific and practical chemists and physicians have investigated its effects upon the human system. It is to act upon the

HEART,
LIVER, KIDNEYS,
DIGESTIVE ORGANS AND GLANDULAR SYSTEM,

and to have great control over

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the zeal and ability which have been devoted to its investigation, it remained almost useless, until Dr. Henry Anders, a physician and chemist of New York, after years of patient labor and experiment, discovered a chemical process which enabled him to dissolve without a solvent. This, considered impossible by the scientific world, is attested by certificates of analysis from Dr. J. R. Chilton of this city, and Prof. Booth, U. S. Mint, Philadelphia. The importance of this discovery was so highly appreciated by the Faculty that it was published in the Medical Journals and its use recommended to practitioners (see "American Medical Monthly," July 6, 1856, page 6.)

PURE IODINE IN PURE WATER,

This valuable medicine is now available to the public for the cure of Scrofula in all its manifold forms, Consumption, Cancer, Heart, Liver and Kidney Diseases, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervous Affections, Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, etc.

AS A TONIC

Its operation is evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increased nutrition of the body in the result of the employment of Iodine. The patient recovers flesh, strength and color; hitherto pale, relaxed and feeble, he becomes full, strong and florid.

Full directions accompany each bottle.

Sold by all Druggists. Price, $1 per bottle. Prepared by Dr. H. Anders & Co., Physicians and Chemists, New York.

HOSTETTER'S
STOMACH BITTERS.

THE OPERATION OF THIS PALATABLE REMEDY upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative. It regulates, recruits and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties.

Invigorate the System.

Vigorous digestion and pure bile produce nutricious blood, and nutritious blood a healthy frame. Does the victim of a dyspeptic stomach and a disordered liver desire to know how the digestion may be improved, the bile and other fluids of the body purified?

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters

Will accomplish this desirable revolution in the system, regulating the secretions and excretions giving tone to the animal juices which dissolve the food, strengthen every relaxed nerve, muscle and fibre, and brings the whole machinery of vitality into vigorous and healthful play.

Strengthen the System.

The best means of imparting vigor to the broken-down frame and shattered constitution, which has yet been invented or discovered, is proffered to the feeble of both sexes and all ages in

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

Debility from whatever cause arising may be cured; strength, in whatever manner it may have been wasted, may be restored by the use of this powerful and healthy invigorant. For indigestion and all its painful effects, bodily and mental, they are a positive specific.

A word to the Aged.

In the decline of life the loss of vital force consequent upon physical decay can only be safely supplied by some vivifying preparation which recruits the strength and spirits without entailing the exhaustion which is always the final effect of ordinary stimulants. We tender to the aged

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters,

As an invigorant and restorative, immediate in its beneficial action and permanent in its effects. It tones the stomach, improves the appetite and acts like a charm upon the spirits.

For Females.

Thousands of ladies resort to it as a remedy for hysteria, fluttering of the heart, nervous headache, vertigo, general debility, and all peculiar disturbances and derangements to which as a sex they are subject. It cheers and enchains the depressed mental powers as well as strengthens the body, and its use is never followed by any reaction.

GENITAL DEBILITY, ETC.

THE ASTONISHING SUCCESS WHICH HAS ATtended this invaluable medicine renders it the most valuable one ever discovered. No language can convey an adequate idea of the immediate and almost miraculous change which it occasions in the debilitated and shattered system. In fact it stands unrivalled as a remedy for the permanent cure of the maladies above mentioned, and also

DIABETES, IMPOTENCY, LOSS OF MUSCULAR ENERGY,
PHYSICAL PROSTRATION,
INDIGESTION,
SEMINAL WEAKNESS,

MEDICAL WONDER

The startling trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man. He stands erect; he moves with a firm step; his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom or an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright and active, and he goes forth regenerated, conscious of new vigor. The medicine reaches the CONSTITUTION itself, and restores it to its normal condition.
